Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to communication filed on 6/1/2005.
2. Claims 1-2, 4 and 7 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-2, 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldhaber et al. (5,855,008 hereinafter Goldhaber).

With reference to claims 1-2, 4 and 7 Goldhaber teaches a presentation method for providing advertisement information stored in a server to an exhibit via a network (Abstract). Requesting access to information stored in the server over the network (col. 9, lines 33-61 and col. 10, lines 9-38); selecting advertisement information among information stored in the server when access is authorized (col. 9, lines 33-61 and col. 10, lines 9-38); sending selected advertisement information from the server to the exhibitor over the network (col. 9, lines 33-67); wherein the selected advertisement information is a questionnaire is communicated over the network from the audience to the server (col. 16, lines 16-23); wherein personal information of the audience is registered and the personal information associated with the response is transferred to the server (col. 16, lines 49 to col. 18, lines 1-35).

Goldhaber does not expressly show that the advertisement information sent to the exhibitor is transmitted to a movie theater and shown to the audience before or after a feature presentation as a digital motion picture projected from a movie projector.

However these differences are only found in the nonfunctional descriptive material and are not functionally involved in the steps recited. The advertisement information sent to the exhibitor is transmitted to a movie theater and shown to the audience before or after a feature presentation as a digital motion picture projected from a movie projector. Thus, this descriptive material will not distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in terms of patentability, see In re Gulack, 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed. Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made for the advertisement information sent to the exhibitor is transmitted to a movie theater and shown to the audience before or after a feature presentation as a digital motion picture projected from a movie projector because such data does not functionally relate to the steps in the method claimed and because the subjective interpretation of the data does not patentably distinguish the claimed invention.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
